Memories of Beers Enjoyed...

Dawn - Manager - Cumming

Some people link songs or scents to past experiences. It's human nature. You hear a song and it brings back memories past. Scents... the same. Now I on the other hand do the same but I can link beer to some of the best and worst experiences of my life. I might be young but the memories can stack up.

Let's start with Steel Reserve. The first time (and last) I drank this was the past October in Helen during Oktoberfest. Don't get me wrong, it's a good beer just, well, not as much as I might have consumed. Memories of Oompa music, friends jumping in bushes and somehow finding myself sitting on a rock in the middle of a river?!?!

Now Terrapin. Have you ever watched a tree fall next to your house? Not a pleasant experience. Needless to say, I almost dropped the bottle. We can blame the hurricane that passed through for that one. I miss those two trees.

Over summer, there's nothing better to cool you down than a nice, refreshing Sweetwater Blueberry Ale. Just be sure that you don't fall asleep while reading outside, sitting in a chair, in direct sunlight. Trust me. You will wake up a crispy mess with half a tan. It took forever to get that one evened out.

Sierra Nevada is a good one for me. I will never forget this past NFL season. Go Falcons! A friend and I make it a point to watch the Tampa Bay/ Atlanta games together. The first game they played this season was a complete blow out. Can we get another Go Falcons? Nothing like a good pint while watching your favorite team kick some Buccaneer butt.

These are only a few of the memories embedded in my head. As with anything, some are good, some are bad and some just rock. In closing I leave you with one of the greatest sayings of all time....

"Beer is proof that God loves us and wants us to be happy."

Thank you Mr. Franklin!

Beer Spotlight

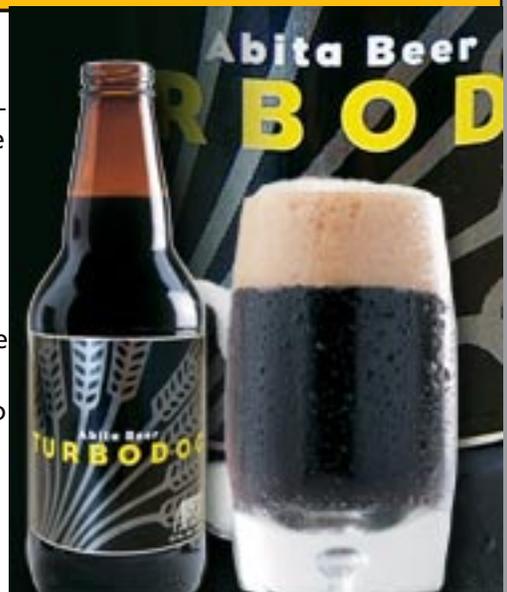

TURBODOG

Abita Turbodog is a dark brown ale brewed with Willamette hops and a combination of British pale, crystal and chocolate malts.

This combination gives Turbodog its rich body and color and a sweet chocolate-toffee like flavor. Turbodog began as a specialty ale but has gained a huge loyal following and has become one of our three flagship brews.

Just a bit stronger than our other brews, so . . .beware of the dog!

Cooking With Beer!

Beer-Battered Apple Fritters

Ingredients

vegetable oil, for deep-frying
55-85g/2-3oz self-raising flour
enough beer to make a batter
2 apples, cored and diced
55g/2oz plain flour
55g/2oz dark chocolate, melted
sprig of fresh mint

Method

1. Heat a pan one-third filled with vegetable oil, for deep-frying, until a breadcrumb will sizzle gently in it. (CAUTION: Hot oil can be very dangerous. Do not leave unattended.)
2. To make the batter, place the self-raising flour in a bowl and whisk in enough beer to create a batter, the consistency of double cream.
3. Coat the apple pieces in the plain flour. Dip the pieces in the batter and then deep-fry in the hot oil for 2-3 minutes, or until golden brown.
4. Carefully remove using a slotted spoon and drain on kitchen paper.
5. Transfer to a serving plate and drizzle with melted chocolate. Garnish with a sprig of mint to serve.

Did You Know?

Dipsomania refers to an abnormal or insatiable craving for alcohol.

In English pubs drinks are served in pints and quarts. In old England, bartenders would advise unruly customers to mind their own pints and quarts. It's the origin of "mind your P's and Q's."

Do you like isyammitilka or ksikonewiw? Those are the words for alcohol beverage among the Alabama and the Maliseet-Passamaquoddy tribes of Native American peoples.
