Beer Connoisseur

Sierra Nevada Harvest

It is made with un-kilned fresh picked hops, and has a window of about two days to brew it as the un-kilned hops don't store as well as kilned hops. It is very similar to our Celebration Ale but we hop it about 6#/bbl vs. roughly 1#/bbl (Celebration). It is only brewed once a year during the two day window, so there is a very limited supply.

"Sierra Nevada Harvest Ale is very unique in that the hops are used fresh and not processed (i.e., kiln-dried and pressed into bales). Due to the hand-crafted nature of this brew and the variation of the hops used, Harvest Ale presents unique hoppy characteristics from year to year."

Alcohol content: 6-6.5%, Bittering Hops: Centennial, Finishing Hops: Cascade and Centennial, Malts: Pale, Caramel & Dextrin
