At the Summit...

A March Into Madness:

The days are growing longer, flowers are in bloom, and everyone who remotely follows sports is filling out their NCAA bracket. This is that magical time of year where for three weeks everybody is an expert in "bracketology" and terms like "on the bubble", RPI, and "diaper dandy" are thrust into the vernacular.

Beginning March 15, 64 teams will compete for the right to the NCAA crown. No BCS, no polls, no whining. All the games are won and lost on the court. The first college basketball game I watched ever was an epic matchup between Indiana St and Michigan St. I was twelve or so and had just begun to have an interest in hoops. I remember my father suggesting that I tune and watch two guys play who may have something special.

Well, that game hooked me and also set the bar for future NCAA finals and tournaments pretty high. However, amazingly every year this tournament has delivered. From Jimmy V, to Phi Slamma Jamma, to Hoya Paranoi, to the Fab Five, to Lethal Weapon Three, the NCAA's have fulfilled their promise of great stories, heroic individual performances, Cinderella stories, and of course last second shockers.

In order to prime the pump some, here are my personal top NCAA all time favorite finals.

1. Villanova – Georgetown:

Nova shoots over 70% from the field and misses only two second half shots on their way upset one of the all time dominant basketball teams.

2. North Carolina – Georgetown:

per game is Dean Smith.

3. NC State – Houston:

NC State has to win the ACC tournament just to qualify. They then parlayed that chance into an improbable run to the finals, culminating with a last second dunk off a missed jumper for the win. Who could forget the charisma of Jim Valvano and "survive and advance" and "never give up".

4. Michigan St – Indiana:

Bird versus Magic; Even a dumb kid could understand that this was more than a game. These two would meet countless more times in NBA finals and define the league for the next generation of fans.

5. Michigan – Seton Hall:

Usually teams that fire their head coach mid season do not make it to the finals. Typically teams comprised of five freshmen don't reach the finals either. However, Michigan completed an unbelievable run with two last second free throws to dispatch upstart Seton Hall. PJ Carlesimo would later go on to greater fame by being choked by Latrell Sprewel.

6. Duke – Kansas:

The real drama was in the semis where an overachieving Duke team out-smarts, out coaches, and out hustles and undefeated UNLV team. Duke would go on to disappoint the Kansas faithful yet again.

7. Kansas – Oklahoma

Danny Manning puts the entire Kansas team on his back and dominates OK. Kansas finally comes through a champ after years of underachieving.

8. Indiana – Syracuse:

Jim Bohiem gets punked again by a last second Keith Smart base line jumper. If it wasn't for Carmello Anthony, Bohiem might have gone down as the greatest choking coach of all time.

Who knows what this year will bring? Will Florida repeat? How far can the rookies Durant and Odum carry their respective teams? Who will be the unknown or mid major Cinderella story? Somebody please give me another bracket to fill out!

Spotlight on Beer

Avery Hog Heaven

Beer Style: American Barleywine Ale | Hop Variety: Columbus
| Malt Variety: Two-row barley, caramel 75L | OG: 1.085 |
Alcohol By Volume: 9.2% | IBU's: 104 | Color: Deep Garnet

This dangerously drinkable garnet beauty is a hop lover's delight. The intense dry-hop nose and the alcohol content are perfectly balanced for a caramel candy-like malt finish. This is a serious beer for serious beer aficionados and it only gets better with age. Cellarable for 3 years.

Beer Geek

Gouden Carolus Classic

Gouden Carolus Triple, the second colour of the "Great to Beer a Belgian" tricolour.

In spite of modern brewing technology, this beer is brewed according to ancient traditions. It unites, now as in the past, the best products of our soil: rich barley and fine hops..

Its refined character, with a pure and rich taste, will captivate you. It is matured at length in cellar and bottle, and is guaranteed to be brewed only from pale malts. It is traditionally top-fermented and is 100% pure. The Gouden Carolus Triple has a unique colour and a full flavour due to its well-balanced hopping.

To properly savour the Golden Carolus "Triple", pour slowly in one movement leaving the yeast deposit in the bottle. This beer may be served cool but not chilled: 10°C is recommended.

Where are YOU???

Hello Summits from Sevelen, Switzerland! I would never have believed I would find myself in Switzerland on business. This is one of many warm days I enjoyed this February! A beautiful country but the beer is better at Summits!

Did You Know?

The general rule of thumb is to substitute a lager where you would otherwise serve a white wine, and offer an ale of substance instead of a red. Fruit beers complement a dessert, and a bock beer is just as good (and just as strong) as a glass of port afterward.

Quote of the Week

One reason I don't drink is that I want to know when I am having a good time.
